

COUC745 Liberty University

PhD CES Program

Jeremy Gillentine

March 22, 2024

Intensive Week Class Participation

During the intensive week I arrived at the scheduled meeting times where I was able to meet my group participants and all classmates for the first time in person at the same location. I was engaged and actively participated in all aspects of the class. The intensive week allowed me to gain a basic understanding of how to utilize SPSS. Our team was able to focus our research topic, establish our variables, and then run some data analysis to begin the process of seeing if we will be able to support or reject our hypotheses. Dr. Volk does a great job at balance his time between the groups and keeping each progressing. Further, Dr. Volk does well at watching each person as they struggle with the information, allow them to be stretched, and then to seemingly know the right time to come lend his wisdom. Overall, it was a great week.